TROPHY WINNER - This replica of a 1927 Bugatti, built and driven by Richard Bartelt, of Appomattox, was awarded the first place trophy in the automotive division of the Historic Appomattox Railroad Festival Parade.

JAMES A. WOODALL, ROUTE 1, SPOUT SPRING is retired from employment with the City of Lynchburg after more than 39 years of service.

Along with growing almost anything else you would expect from an expert gardener, Mr. Woodall's garden produced some unusually large carrots; some measured eight inches around. He certainly hasn't retired from gardening has he?

YOUNG HEARTS CLUB MET

The Young Hearts Club met on September 28th at the Memorial Methodist Church in Appomattox with 64 members, 2 new members, and 5 visitors present.

We had a short business meeting conducted by the president, Helen Gunter. Minutes were read and the roll called. We were reminded of the trip to Harpers Ferry on October 26th, leaving Appomattox at 6 o'clock in the morning. Money is to be paid to Helen by October 10th.

We then moved into the Fellowship Hall and were entertained by "The Golden Merrymakers," a group from Lynchburg. This was enjoyed by all.

At the close of the program homemade ice cream and cake was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Lebanon - A Renewed Look At U. S. Flue-Cured

Through one of its principal export promotion programs Tobacco Associates recently hosted a visit to the flue-cured area of the new leadership in Tobacco Monopoly of Lebanon. The impressive delegation was headed by Jacques Dagher, President and General Director of the Tobacco Monopoly. Accompanying Mr. Dagher were Mr. Phillip Sarkis, Minister of Finance, delegate to the Monopoly; Mr. Emil Bassile, Chief of Leaf Purchases; and Mr. Kamel Hijazi, Chief of the Technical Department. For the delegation members, the visit provided their first opportunity to study the American tobacco industry including flue cured farms, the auction system, processing and redrying facilities, cigarette manufacturing, and USDA programs. Mr. Farid Aboud, Second Secretary of the Embassy of Lebanon in Washington, D. C., joined the delegation in their meetings with USDA and for several days during travel through the flue-cured area.

In 1974 Tobacco Associates began working with the Lebanon Tobacco Monopoly to assist in promoting a new, high quality cigarette brand they were developing. The new brand, "Cedars, was named after the famous cedar trees of Lebanon used to build King Solomon's Temple. Cedars contained a high percentage of U. S. flue cured tobacco and was their first attempt to market a top quality cigarette.

The blend was developed and a promotion program established when the outbreak of Lebanon's civil war put a stop to it all. During this period of war the Tobacco Monopoly, as well as the country as a whole, suffered a tremendous amount of damage.

Mr. Dagher, in his two years as the Tobacco Monopoly's new President and General Director, has done a remarkable job of putting the Monopoly back on its feet. Tobacco Associates kept close contact with the Monopoly officials throught the years and is most pleased at their intentions of re-instating an emphasis on the Cedars brand containing a high percentage of U. S. flue-cured tobacco.

To assist the Monopoly in revitalizing their operations, Tobacco Associates worked closely with the Foreign Agricultural Service of USDA to provide Lebanon with 12 million of P. L. 480 funds for U. S. tobacco purchases from the 1978 crop. Dagher stated that an additional $1.5 million of Monopoly funds will also be used for U. S. tobacco purchases this year.

The delegation's visit, being at the brink of the Monopoly's re-entry into the world tobacco market, was most timely. The opportunity for the delegation to study first-hand the quality of U. S. flue cured, the process of the auction system, and facilitiers of their suppliers would not have been possible without such a promotion program sponsored by the U. S. flue-cured farmers through Tobaccco Associates.

Tobacco Associates will continue close work with the Lebanon Tobacco Monopoly to assist in the promotion of Cedars. With the coming of peace Lebanon has the potential to be a good and growing market for U. S. flue-cured.

Appomattox Native Displays Unusual Creation

When the Appomattox Farm Supply had a grand opening a few weeks ago there was, among many other interesting things, a most unusual item on display.

Robert Simms, born and reared in Appomattox, now living in Nokesville, Va., and employed by Transco is the originator of this item.

Simms began with an ordinary milk can cutting away most of one side and leaving it open. Inside the can he created a minature dairy farm scene.

In the background you see a dairy barn; in the foreground a cow stands patiently as a dairy farmer sits on the milking stool. A little old lady stands beside the 'up and down' churn.

The charming scene, but it doesn't end there; when Simms flips a switch the little man begins milking the cow and the little old lady goes on with her churning.

Powered by batteries, the 'working dairy' scene is a result of much careful planning and a lot of hard work. It was a blue ribbon winner in the fair.

The remainder of Grant's army followed the south side railroad towards Appomattox Depot and here Lee was cut off and forced to surrender.

Mr. Wyatt had on display a table of relics which had belonged to the service men of the War Between the States. These he had found between Saylor's Creek and Appomattox while relic hunting.

During the social hour members viewed these and discussed them with the speaker.

It was voted by the chapter to donate $1.00 per member to the Memorial Building Endowment Fund.

The president emphasize subscribing to the United Daughters of Confederacy magazine and enrolling new members in the chapter.

In the picture above we see Mr. Harold Wyatt, guest speaker for Appomattox Chapter U.D.C., pointing to a point on the map from Saylor's Creek to Appomattox which he used in his talk.

U.D.C. Held Meeting

Founder's Day and the birthdays of Admiral Buchanan and Rear Admiral Semmes were observed at the first meeting of the year of the Appomattox Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy on September 21 at the County Library.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Harold Wyatt, a Civil War buff, who is a member of Company D of the 11th Virginia Regiment. His subject was "From Saylor's Creek to Appomattox."

Mr. Wyatt began by speaking of the events that led us to the battle of Saylor's Creek.

At the battle of Five Forks when on April 1, 1865 which caused Lee to evacuate Petersburg and he retreated in the westerly direction with his troops reunited at Amelia Court House on April 5.

On April 6 as he continued his retreat he lost one third of his army at the battle of Saylor's Creek and the remainder of his army continued into Farmville and he was followed closely by General Grant's army and he was forced to cross the Appomattox River.

He continued his retreat on the north side of the Appomattox River and was followed closely by Humphry's Corps.
